The child minder ensures the environment is safe, clean, and well maintained. The premises are homely, welcoming and well organised. The child minder provides an adequate range of resources to meet children's interests.

The service is generally managed well. The child minder has an adequate range of policies and procedures in place. Communication with parents is effective.

Well-being

Good

Children have a confident voice and feel comfortable to express themselves. They play freely and make choices about the toys and activities they play with from the selection available. For example, when they returned from school, they decided to play with the dressing up clothes.

Children feel safe, happy, and valued. They engage positively with the child minder and her family. They are very settled and relaxed. They told us that they enjoy their time with the child minder and have fun.

Interactions between children and the child minder are consistently good. They talk freely to the child minder about things that interest them and are consulted about what they want to do whilst in her care. Children cooperate and share resources well for their age. Children are treated with respect and their views are considered. For example, children were asked if they were hungry and ready for lunch.

Children confidently choose activities that interest them. They have good opportunities to initiate their own play and to influence their activities. They freely choose toys from the resources available. They can choose to relax and have quiet times, play in the garden or freely play throughout the downstairs.

Children are independent, they go to the toilet independently wash their hands and eat their lunch. They know routines well and were eager to get themselves ready for swimming. They have freedom to safely explore their indoor and outdoor environments. They confidently access toys and resources from the storage systems in the playroom.

Care and Development

Good

The child minder has a range of basic policies, which promote the children's safety and well-being. The child minder understands the procedure to follow should she have any safeguarding concerns about the children in her care. The child minder promotes children's health successfully. Effective hygiene practices are in place, with regular cleaning routines followed. The child minder provides opportunities for children to be active and get fresh air as they have regular access to the garden. There are systems in place to record accident, incident and medication administration.

The child minder is caring and interacts well with the children. She has an appropriate behaviour management policy in place and is a positive role model. The child minder becomes actively involved in children's discussions about their day at school and knows when to step in to help and support children. For example, when a child struggled to open their lunch box.

The child minder provides age-appropriate resources and activities for the children. She is aware of their interests which enables her to provide some appropriate toys. The child minder knows the children well and has a good understanding of each child's individual needs and routine. The child minder promotes independence well. The child minder does not plan activities, she promotes free play. However, she sometimes prepares activities linked to well know celebrations such as Mother's Day and Father's Day. Incidental Welsh is used throughout.

Environment

Adequate

The child minder ensures that the indoor environment is safe, clean and well maintained. She keeps the front door locked. The child minder completes risk assessments for the environment; however, not all are recorded. There is a secure, well-maintained garden to the rear of the property. The child minder has up to date vehicle insurance and heating test certificates in place. She practises and records fire drills at appropriate intervals.

The child minder's premises are welcoming, homely and well organised. The children have access to the lounge, hallway and kitchen. Children have their own coat hooks and towels. This promotes a sense of belonging and strengthens their connection to the setting. The areas are warm and bright with plenty of space to play. Accessible storage containing age-appropriate toys and resources are kept in the playroom. Children can independently access a ground-floor toilet.

The child minder ensures the children have access to an adequate range of toys and play equipment that suit their individual needs and interests. Toys and resources are stored appropriately, and the layout and design of the environment promotes children's independence well. For instance, children can access play toys and resources themselves. The child minder ensures the play environment is homely providing some interesting activities and play equipment. For example, a purpose built lego table and a mud kitchen outdoors.

Leadership and Management

Adequate

Generally, the childminder runs her service well. She is organised and keeps the required records. The necessary policies and procedures are in place; however, they have not been updated and do not display review dates. The safeguarding policy does not refer to current legislation. Information relating to children, including their contracts is complete. The childminder has a satisfactory statement of purpose in place that reflects the service provided, however, it has not been updated for some time and does not fully comply with regulations.

The child minder reviews and reflects upon her service and produces a basic quality of care report. She seeks the suggestions of people who use her service in her evaluation process. The child minder responds positively to information and advice given to improve her service.

The child minder makes sure she and adult household members have an up to date Disclosure and Barring Service check (DBS). The child minder's core training is up to date, including safeguarding, paediatric first aid and food hygiene. She told us that she does not have any further training planned at present.

The child minder promotes positive partnerships with parents. She is accommodating to the needs of the parents using the service. She shares information with parents verbally and via text messages. The child minder, when time permits, makes good use of the local area, such as visits to the park, swimming pool and toddler groups.

Summary of Non-Compliance

Status	What each means
New	This non-compliance was identified at this inspection.
Reviewed	Compliance was reviewed at this inspection and was not achieved. The target date for compliance is in the future and will be tested at next inspection.
Not Achieved	Compliance was tested at this inspection and was not achieved.
Achieved	Compliance was tested at this inspection and was achieved.

We respond to non-compliance with regulations where poor outcomes for people, and / or risk to people’s well-being are identified by issuing Priority Action Notice (s).

The provider must take immediate steps to address this and make improvements. Where providers fail to take priority action by the target date we may escalate the matter to an Improvement and Enforcement Panel.

Priority Action Notice(s)

Regulation	Summary	Status
N/A	No non-compliance of this type was identified at this inspection	N/A

Where we find non-compliance with regulations but no immediate or significant risk for people using the service is identified we highlight these as Areas for Improvement.

We expect the provider to take action to rectify this and we will follow this up at the next inspection. Where the provider has failed to make the necessary improvements we will escalate the matter by issuing a Priority Action Notice.

We expect the provider to take action to address these and we will follow these up at the next inspection.

National Minimum Standards
Standard	Recommendation(s)
Standard 20 - Child protection	Ensure policy is updated with current legislation, contact information and dated.

Where we think it helpful, we may make best practice recommendations. These are to encourage settings that are doing well to become even better at helping children thrive.

Best Practice
Recommendation(s)
Ensure all policies and procedures are up to date and have review dates.

Ratings	What the ratings mean
Excellent	These are services which are committed to ongoing improvement with many strengths, including significant examples of sector leading practice and innovation. These services deliver high quality care and support and are able to demonstrate that they make a strong contribution to improving children’s well-being.
Good	These are services with strengths and no important areas requiring significant improvement. They consistently exceed basic requirements, delivering positive outcomes for children and actively promote their well-being.
Adequate	These are services where strengths outweigh areas for improvement. They are safe and meet basic requirements but improvements are required to promote well-being and improve outcomes for children.
Poor	These are services where important areas for improvement outweigh strengths and there are significant examples of non-compliance that impact negatively on children’s well-being. Where services are poor we will take enforcement action and issue a non-compliance notice.
